THE NEW CONSTITUTION. Dissatisfaction with the new Constitution continues to increase. And amendment to it, to elect Clerks and Masters by the people, passed the Senate this morning, and a resolution also passed to appoint a joint select committee to propose amend-ments to the Constitution. West Tennessee is bitter towards the new Constitution, and the other sections of the State are falling into line. Stock Raising.

No. XLVII. We have alluded to this subject in former articles, but its great importance deserves special notice. East Tennessee is naturally better adapted to stock raising, in all its branches, than any other part of the South, except the blue grass region of Kentucky. The climate is mild, the summers being neither too het por the winters mers being neither too hot nor the winters too cold. Thus but little shelter is needed at any season and feeble animals are not at any season and feeble animals are not injured by either extreme of temperature. The variety of soil and elevation affords the best variety for raising stock of all kinds. On the fertile river bottoms large quantities of corn are grown every year with which hogs are fattened. On the higher, rolling lands and in the the valleys fine gross grows where estile the valleys fine grass grows, where cattle may pasture, and the small farmers pro-duce large quantities of hay, oats and fod-der upon which they are fattened in winter. On the mountains wild grass is very abundant, affording vast pasture fields for sheep and cattle. Hogs are raised on the higher lands until pretty well grown and when they will weigh about 150 or tered at Knoxville and other points and the pork is sent South in a pickled state. Others still are fattened in small numbers by farmers all over the country and the overplus is collected and sent South or sold in the home market in the form of bacon. The income from hog raising to East Tennessee is already considerable, but not anything like what it should be. The hog-raising sections are Cocke county, (which outstrips any other locality) Powell's Valley, in Campbell and Claiborne counties, Little River, in Blount county, and the low lands on the rivers generally. Two classes of hogs are fattened. The first class are those fed upon corn. They are put into the market in November and December. The other class are fattened on the mast and come from the mountains, where that food is abundant. They arrive at market in January and February. These last are smaller and their meat is not considered so good as the corn-fed hogs.

Cattle are raised principally in valleys and the coves of the mountains. The idea seems to have prevailed at the North that East Tennessee is not a grass country. This is a great mistake. Grass grows everywhere, both wild and cultivated grasses. The commons around Knoxville where the armies encamped The first section of this bill makes Knox ered with the finest kind of grass and afcounty a criminal district. The mountain lands are most suited for ct into effect from its passage.

I am satisfied this bill will be a law in a kind here. Nothing would pay better than sheep raising on the Cumberland Mountains. The Smoky Mountains are not so well adapted. Almost all farmers produce some wool for home use, but none is exported. Sheep need but little feeding in winter. In moist meadows there is always green grass growing upon which they feed. Large herds would, of course, need more attention. Horses are raised by farmers generally, but not in such numbers as formerly. The same may be said of mules. The great body of stock in East Tennessee is what is called "scrub" stock. Improved breeds are only partially introduced. Mr. N. T.

Bitters as a remedy for indigestion, bilious disorders, intermittent and remittent fevers, which notoriously prevails in all parts of the United States? This confidence has been growing for twenty years, and is still extending. It is not the result of credulity; it has not been engendered by any human device, but is the spontaneous and natural consequence of experience. What cannot question. When families in unhealthy districts, that resort to this wholesome vegetable tonic as a preventive, escape periodical fevers, and their immediate neighbors, who neglect that precaution, are prostrated by the disease, how is it possible that the phenomenon should be without its lesson?
